Projects

AI-Based Fire Detection System | Python, OpenCV, Flask, HTML, CSS

- Built a real-time fire detection system using OpenCV that analyzes live video/webcam feed to identify fire using color-based detection techniques
- Implemented color segmentation logic in Python/OpenCV to detect fire-like regions (flame color ranges) in each video frame and trigger an alert
- Worked on the front end: designed and built the web interface using HTML and CSS to display the live camera feed and detection status
- Integrated the OpenCV detection module with a Flask backend to stream processed video and detection results to the web page
- Handled end-to-end connection between the Python detection logic and the web app, enabling real-time monitoring through the browser

Task Management Web Application | Python, Flask| Dec 2025

- Implemented task creation, updating, deletion, and viewing with persistent storage using SQLite.
- Designed database models and relationships to support structured task and user data.
- Built dynamic, responsive pages using Jinja2 templating along with custom HTML and CSS.
- Set up RESTful routing to handle navigation and data flow between frontend and backend components.
