PROJECTS

Laser Based Non-Invasive Blood Glucose Monitoring System.

Technologies: ESP8266 (NodeMCU), Laser Sensor,L DR Sensor,I2CLCD, Blynk IoT, WiFi, Embedded C/Arduino IDE.
Description: Developed a hardware-based non-invasive blood glucose monitoring system using laser sensing and ESP8266. The system reads glucose-related signals, displays values on an I2C LCD, and sends real-time data to the Blynk IoT platform via WiFi.

Real-Time Skin Disease Detection with Voice Enabled Health Guidance.

Technologies:HTML,CSS,JavaScript, TensorFlow.js, TeachableMachine, Web Speech API, MediaDevices API (Live Camera)
Description: This system uses AI and a live camera to detect common skin diseases in real time.All image processing happens inside the user's browser, ensuring full privacy and security.It provides disease prediction with confidence level and voice-based health guidance.The system also suggests healthy diet tips for better skin care and prevention.

ACHIEVEMENTS & HACKATHONS

Won 3rd Prize at the Dhanalakshmi Srinivasan University , Hackathon for presenting an innovative Laser-Based Non-Invasive Blood Glucose Monitoring System.

Won 3rd Prize in Paper Presentation at Gnanamani College of Technology.

Secured 2nd Prize in Doodlers (Non-Technical Event) at Paavai College of Engineering.
